COMPILER'S PREFACE.

The compiler of this Catalogue has faithfully aimed to make it complete. For any failure he feels blameless. He endeavored by advertisements in the Church papers and on the annual catalogues, to secure the desired information from the living alumni respecting themselves and the hundred and fifty deceased alumni. He then issued six or eight hundred circulars, which were distributed to all living alumni, whose addresses could be had, specifying all the items of information which were needed. By a most diligent and long-continued correspondence, he sought information through every available channel respecting the deceased alumni. In these efforts, both regarding the living and the dead, he received from every part of the Union many very gratifying evidences of sympathy in his work, and much and often, unexpected aid. Still he is compelled to issue the work with many gaps. As to the dead, the death of family connections or the removal of many who could not be traced, rendered all efforts unsuccessful. In regard to the living alumni, it will be seen, some have left no trace of their present abode; others have made incomplete returns, failing to give accurate replies, especially of dates; and a few have neglected or declined, after repeated solicitations, to make any reply whatever.

Still, it is believed the work will prove successful to illustrate the value of the Seminary to the Church and world, justify the Board of Trustees in ordering its preparation, and supply the basis for future efforts for enlargement, when the time may arrive to make such desirable.

With thanks to all the helpers, and especially to a kind Providence, which has borne him safely through two years, in which all his leisure from professional work has been given to this enterprise, the compiler submits the results to the alumni and the Church at large.

HISTORICAL INTRODUCTION.

Union Seminary was formally opened January 1, 1824. The origin of an Institution, especially designed for the education of ministers of the Gospel, is found in the history of the Presbyterian Church, in the Colonial Provinces of North America, settled by emigrants from Great Britain and Ireland. In the early part of the eighteenth century churches were formed, consisting of such emigrants. They were dependent on the mother Church in Scotland for a supply of ministers. The rapid increase of population rendering this supply inadequate, measures were adopted for providing for the education of candidates, in classical schools of the highest grade possible, and assigning them, after completing their literary course, to the instruction of "approved divines" for the attainment of a theological education. When circumstances permitted, some of the candidates resorted to the Universities of the mother country to obtain more extended educational advantages, both literary and theological. The "Log colleges" of the Tennants were illustrations of the importance attached to a thorough education, which has ever been a distinguishing characteristic of Presbyterianism, wherever this form of religious faith and order has existed. While the special purpose of such schools was the education of candidates for the ministry, they were open to all who desired to enjoy the advantages afforded.

About the middle of the eighteenth century, Nassau Hall (Princeton College) was established, and before the close of the century other collegiate institutions were founded: Washington, Jefferson and Dickinson Colleges, in Pennsylvania; Transylvania, in Kentucky, and Hampden-Sidney and Washington, in Virginia. Connected with this last-named college, while it was known as Liberty Hall and then Washington Academy, there was formed by the Rector, Rev. William Graham, in 1796, the first "theological class" ever known south of the Potomac, and perhaps the first, under Presbyterian auspices, in the United States. The presidents of these institutions being ministers, and generally teachers of moral philosophy, instructed candidates in their theological studies. In Virginia Rev. Archibald Alexander and Rev. John H. Rice, under the direction of Hanover Presbytery, engaged in efforts, encouragingly successful, to provide funds for sustaining a professor of theology and for procuring a theological library.

In 1809, the General Assembly took measures to provide more extensive advantages for theological education and overtured the Presbyteries to consider and report to the next Assembly, on these three modes of action, (1) the establishment of one theological seminary for the whole church, (2) or, of two, or (3) of one for each Synod. In 1810, it appeared, that of twenty-seven Presbyteries, six were opposed, for the present, to any action, ten favored the first and ten the third mode, and only one the second. The Assembly decided, that the first plan was favored by a "greater amount of Presbyterian suffrage." This decision was made in view of the importance of prompt action, and the fact, satisfactorily ascertained, that several Presbyteries had rejected that plan under misconceptions, easily obviated. Accordingly, measures were at once adopted, which resulted in the establishment of Princeton Theological Seminary, in 1812. While, in the Synod of Virginia, some, who had been actively engaged in the work of sustaining the proposed Synodical plan for theological education, yet readily co-operated with the General Assembly, it is evident that the prosecution of the work for the Synodical scheme was not regarded as inconsistent with a submission to the action of the Assembly. Coincidentally therefore, with the organization of Princeton Seminary, the Synod appointed Rev. Moses Hoge, D. D. the Synodical "Professor of Theology" and satisfactory arrangements having been made with the Trustees of Hampden Sidney College, of which he was President, by which Dr. Hoge could perform the duties both of the Presidency and the Professorship of Theology, he at once entered on his work. Candidates for the ministry, mostly from Presbyteries East of the Blue Ridge, a few from Lexington and Winchester and from the Presbyteries in North Carolina, resorted to the College for their literary course and continued after its close, pursuing their professional studies under their venerated preceptor. He faithfully performed his duties and his pupils reflected honor on their preceptor in their career in the ministry.

The value of Dr. Hoge's labors cannot be too highly estimated. He was an example of true ministerial dignity in daily life, and of eminent efficiency in the pulpit. A thorough, decided and scriptural Calvinist, he was conservative in his teachings, and thus impressed on his pupils and largely on the Synod, a theological character of a decided, yet moderate Calvinistic type, and this has given to that body a potent and happy influence on the Church at large, preventing the growth of ultraism in dogma, on the one hand and of radical and revolutionary sentiments on the other.

After the lamented death of Dr. Hoge, in 1820, the Synod having, for two years, vainly endeavored to fill his place, relegated to the Presbytery of Hanover the authority to carry forward the School of Theology, thereafter changed from being a department in the college, under a Professor of Theology, into a distinct institution, as a "Theological Seminary." The Presbytery committed the management of the infant Seminary to a Board of Trustees, consisting of Rev. William S. Reid, of Lynchburg; Rev. Clement Read, of Charlotte; Rev. John B. Hoge, of Richmond; Rev. Benj. H. Rice, of Petersburg; Rev. John Kirkpatrick, of Cumberland; Rev. John D. Paxton, of Goochland; Rev. Matthew Lyle, Col. James Madison, Capt. Nathaniel <sup>Rice</sup> ~~Pace~~, Maj. James Morton, Mr. Moses Treadway and Dr. William S. Morton, of Prince Edward. Rev. Dr. John H. Rice was elected Professor of Theology and the services of Prof. James Marsh, of Hampden Sydney College, were secured to teach the Hebrew language. Owing to Dr. Rice's serious and protracted illness he did not commence teaching till the fall of 1823, when three students formed the first class.

The labors of Dr. Hoge and the character of thirty ministers, trained by him, had a great influence in forming a public sentiment, favorable to the enterprise of establishing the Seminary. The writings of Dr. Rice in the "Evangelical and Literary Magazine" greatly fostered the growth of such a sentiment. Hence, the number of students in 1830-31, had reached nearly fifty. Dr. Rice's labors, during the years 1826-29, had been very successful in increasing the funds of the Seminary. In 1826 measures were taken for enlarging the sphere of patronage, by transferring the control of the Seminary to the joint agency of the Synods of Virginia and North Carolina. In 1827 the Synods accepted the transfer and each appointed twelve members of a Board of Directors. This board met November 15, 1827. It consisted of sixteen ministers and eight elders. A large majority of them appointed accepted the office and were present at this meeting. To this Board was committed the management of the Institution, except that the Synods reserved the right to elect professors. The election of professors by the Synods was discontinued in 1834. This power was conferred on an Electoral Board, consisting of the Board of Directors and an Electoral College of the same number of members, appointed by the Synods. All such elections were made by this body, till 1868, when the Trustees, under the charter, were clothed with this authority. Assistant Instructors have been appointed by the Faculty, in some cases, and then confirmed or reelected by the Board; in others, appointed by the Board and in others, for short periods of service, by the Faculty.

The Synods retain control of the Board of Directors and Trustees, exercised by a judgment on their acts, reported to those bodies. The Assembly also has a right of general superintendence, may advise and recommend, but not originate, measures for the management of the Seminary, nor have any controlling negative on those of the Board, though, for what may appear good reasons, may send down to the Synods, written expressions of disapproval of the acts of the Board, as reported to it, from year to year.

A Catalogue is given below of all who have participated in the instruction of the students, with the dates of the beginning and close of their respective periods of service. The death of Dr. Rice, September 3, 1831, was a severe stroke of an all wise Providence, and while his place in the instruction of the students was adequately supplied, the institution long felt the want of his services and the loss of his wide and favorable reputation, as a representative of its interests in the churches throughout the land. Of forty-seven students in the year 1830-31, about twenty were from other States than Virginia and North Carolina. Nearly all these failed to return, and the troubles of the Church from 1832 to 1838, culminating in a schism, which separated many active and zealous friends, and lessened many sources of patronage; the pecuniary disasters of the times; changes of professors and other causes, greatly retarded the growth and abridged the usefulness of the institution for about twenty years. Yet the Directors, bravely and faithfully sustained by the faculty, reduced after 1838 to two professors and an assistant instructor, never flinched from conflicts with the apathy of many and the open opposition of others. By judicious agents the funds were gradually increased, and while the support of the instructors was meagre and sometimes very irregularly rendered, the institution was not allowed to incur protracted debts, and in 1852 its interests revived in the Synods, and with three professors since 1849, measures were set on foot, under the encouraging action of the Synods, to add a fourth professor to the faculty. Vacancies in the faculty by the deaths of Dr. Graham in 1851, and of Dr. Sampson in 1854, were filled. Dr. William J. Hoge was added in 1856, and his resignation in 1859 was followed by the election of Dr. Peck. The year previous to the war found forty students in the Seminary. The war of secession depleted the number of students, till in 1864-65 but one was left.

In the summer of 1865 the treasury had no income. The funds, amounting to over $20,000, vested in bank stocks, were a total loss, and the State could not pay interest on its bonds held by the Seminary. In this emergency friends in Baltimore and New York came to the aid of the institution, with contributions sufficient to support it for one year. During 1866-67 the State resumed payment of interest in part on its bonds, and soon, by a noble exhibition of concern for all incorporated literary institutions, ordered payment of full 6 per cent. interest on all bonds held by them. Meanwhile, an effort to repair the loss of bank stock, and also that of investments made in Confederate securities, and to increase the permanent funds, succeeded by the spring of 1869 in adding nearly $80,000, of which about $15,000 was for library fund and scholarships. A donation of $10,000 was set apart for a library building, and soon after Rev. U. Powers gave, by will, about ten thousand dollars, to be expended, as paid into the treasury, for books. During the last few years Mr. Jos. B. Willson, of Rockbridge, by donations during life and his will, has added nearly $34,000 to the scholarship funds. The seminary has thus not only risen above embarrassment, but has means for an economical support of its instruction and an income from its scholarship fund of $4,000 per annum. The Board not succeeding till 1867 in securing a charter of incorporation, the funds were deposited for use, under its order, in the hands of the trustees of the General Assembly for several years, and then in the hands of trustees, though with no legal existence. The real estate was placed in the keeping of various trustee boards. In 1867, after various unsuccessful efforts to procure an act of incorporation, the Legislature of Virginia finally granted one, which was accepted.

The difficulty of success heretofore grew out of the fact that the Legislature could not recognize an ecclesiastical body as a legal power, and so could not give a charter which took cognizance of the Presbyterian Church as such. Hence the Legislature would only charter a close, self-perpetuating corporation, and such a charter the Synods would not accept. In the Act of July 9, 1867, the difficulty was removed by providing, "The said trustees and their successors, as a board, shall have power to fill vacancies in their own body, the persons elected to fill such vacancies to be chosen from the Directors, appointed under the Plan and Constitution of said Seminary." In the fall of 1867 the Synods accepted this charter, and in May, 1868, the Board of Trustees organized. This Board consisted of the members of the Board of Directors. In the catalogue of Directors and Trustees, given on a subsequent page, the letter T prefixed to a name designates the Board as constituted by the Legislature. All Directors elected by the Synods to fill vacancies in the Board of Directors, since 1867, have, by the clause of the charter above quoted, become members of the Board of Trustees. Of the Board as chartered, Messrs. Barr, Cloyd, Tucker, Lanier, Russell, Shepherd and Sherwood do not appear to have qualified as Directors, and so never appeared as Trustees. The present Board, as seen below, contains of course but a small number of the members of the original Board—Rev. Drs. Brown, Read, Ruple, Atkinson and Smith, and Dr. Hutchinson.

A house for a Professor with rooms in the third story for ten students, was erected while the Seminary was under control of the Hanover Presbytery. In 1830, two Professors' houses were built. In 1831-32, the first building was extended, a center building and another corresponding to the first, as extended in size, were erected, altogether providing a Chapel and Library in its gallery, three lecture rooms and accommodations for about fifty students. In 1854, another Professor's house was built, and about 1860 a building was purchased, providing for a mess dining room, eight students' rooms and two for the family attending to the mess. In 1880-81, an elegant and commodious library building, with room for 20,000 volumes, besides 12,000 now held in it, was erected at a cost of about $17,000, the principal and accumulated interest on the donation for the purpose above mentioned, made by a generous lady of Baltimore.

In view of this sketch who "will despise the day of small things?" How wonderfully has God blessed our Southern Church?" How eminently wise and foresighted was that eminent man of God, Dr. John H. Rice, whom God raised up and enabled to lay the foundation for the enlarged and abundant facilities now enjoyed by our generation for a complete course of theological training. It is for us rightly to improve for wider blessing to the world, what God has provided for our use!

EXPLANATIONS.

1. The word Alumni, denotes all who have been matriculated and students of the Seminary for any length of time.

2. The time spent in this Seminary is indicated by a figure in a parenthesis: (2) denotes two years; (—1) less than one and (1+) more than one year. So fractions of 2 or 3 years are denoted. If a graduate, Gr., is added to the figure, as (3, Gr.), or (2, Gr.), &c. If the student has spent any time in some other seminary before coming to this, or after leaving, the name of that seminary is given before or after the indication of time in this, as the case may be, and the time and graduation, (if a graduate,) expressed as above, but not in a parenthesis. The class entered is denoted by mid. or sen. preceding the number of the year, thus (mid. 2) denotes entry in middle class and stay of 2 years.

3. Employment of a student, or means of preparation for the Seminary, or both, are stated just preceding the above notation of time spent in this Seminary.

4. In the catalogue of alumni, when the minister's work in any place or places is combined in the time, longer spent in another, that work is stated parenthetically, between the date of beginning the longer service and the date of its close. Thus under No. 89 is "P. Clarkesville '40—(S. S. and then P. Shiloh, '40-'42)—46, which means, P. of Clarkesville '40-'46 and while thus employed, also S. S. and then P. Shiloh '40-'42. If only one date follows the name of the church or churches, in parenthesis, it denotes the beginning of that service; then the figures following the dash after the parenthesis shows that this intervening service closed co-incidently with the close of the longer service. Thus No. 655 is "P. Byrd, '81—(Hebron and Rivanna '82 and S. S. Powhatan '83)—'84," which means, that the service of Hebron and Rivanna and Powhatan, commencing '82 and '83, respectively, closed with that of Byrd, which commenced '81, and ended '84.

5. In the catalogue of officers, the time when the service commenced is indicated by the date (in years) opposite the name, in the first or left-hand column of dates, and the time when the service ended by the date in the second column.

6. An asterisk preceding the name of an officer or student denotes death; an asterisk following the date of the close of an officer's service denotes death while in office, and following the name of a student, death while a student.

7. The catalogue of Directors and Trustees is confined to those who actually served, and makes no note of appointees by the Synods, who never attended a meeting and qualified by taking the pledge of office. No notice is taken of the short time in which the Presbytery of Winchester, while belonging to another Synod, was specially entitled to a representative, since during that time the representation of the Synod of Virginia was reduced by one minister and one elder.

8. If a student is not known to have been a graduate, St. or Stud. is prefixed to the name of the college or university. When ascertained, the year of graduation is added to the name of the college. Degrees of A. B. and A. M., when reported, are copied into the Record.

9. When the name of a Presbytery has been given connected with Licensure, if ordination has been by the same Presbytery, its name is not repeated. The same rule is observed in recording other relations of a Minister to Presbytery. The name of the Presytery is not repeated till a new presbyterial tirelation may have occurred.

10. Generally the name of the Presbytery to which a church belongs is given. By the changes of Presbyterial relations and other causes, sometimes uncertainty occurs, and the name of the Pby. is omitted.

ABBREVIATIONS.

1. Names of months and of States and countries are not included in this list, inasmuch as all are presumed to be familiar with such.

2. Alternative forms of abbreviation sometimes occur, which need occasion no difficulty.

3. Some abbreviations, as Col., are used for several full words. Thus Col. may be for College, for Columbia Sem'y, or Columbia College. The context will ordinarily make clear what is meant.
